UNITED STATES ILLINOIS AT URBANA CAMPAIGN

through Independent Living

The Illinois Department of Human Services' fully embraces the belief that independent living is the right to control their lives by making informed choices and actively participate in all aspects of society.

Through the Independent Living Program, DHS operates Centers for Independent Living that provide services to help all people with disabilities live more independently.

Centers for Independent Living are:

- Not-for-profit organizations
- Consumer-controlled organizations
- Managed by persons with disabilities
- Non-residential organizations
- Community-based organizations

Centers for Independent Living must offer:

- Advocacy
- Peer counseling
- Information and referral services
- Independent living skills training

To locate the Center for Independent Living, call the DRS Independent Living Unit:

Springfield - 217-782-9689 (Voice and TDD)
Chicago - 312-814-4037 (Voice and TDD)

vision of Rehabilitation Services (DRS) ing means people with disabilities have med choices that enable them to funds a statewide network of accessible programs and services designed independently.

Other services Centers for Independent Living may offer include:

- Community reintegration programs
- Personal assistance programs
- Housing services
- Accessibility services
- Job readiness training
- Youth programs

Clearly, Centers for Independent Living are not social service agencies - they are agents for social change.
